

My home. Creating the best home for me.

My best life, my way. I have options. Where I live is about more than my address. Whether I choose to live in a shared setting or in my own place, my home should reflect my wants and needs. It should be the place where I'm most comfortable.

If I am not already in my ideal place, I may need to learn more about my rights, options and choices. I may need to make a housing plan, and share my plan and goals with those who support me.

My rights and options.

- I can assert my rights in my shared home — such as a group home or foster care. It is my right to have privacy, dignity and respect in my shared home. I can lock my door, set my own schedule and have visitors when I want.
- I can have a home of my own. If I've always wanted a home of my own, I can make that goal a reality. I can earn and save enough money to reach my housing goals. I can explore programs that might be able to help me find and pay for housing.
- I can stay in my home. If my situation is changing, I might be concerned about being able to stay in my home — but I might have more options than I realized. I can get services in my own home. I can even access new technology or modify my home to make it work better for me.

My tools. I can use a variety of resources to create the best home for me, including:

- My HB101 Plan. Housing Benefits 101 — or HB101 — is a website I can use to explore housing options. It explains services and programs that can make housing more affordable. It has an online tool called My HB101 Plan, with quick and easy activities that can help me make choices about where I want to live. I can share my plan with people who support me so they can help me make my housing goals a reality. I can find My HB101 Plan at www.hb101.org.
- Waiver services. If I'm on a waiver, there are services available to help me plan for, find and move to a home of my own. There are also services available to help me live and stay in my own home. I can talk to my case manager to find the services I need for me to reach my goals.
- Disability Hub MN™. To explore options and services over the phone, or get help using HB101, I can call Disability Hub MN at 1-866-333-2466, or I can chat online at disabilityhubmn.org.
